VOL. VI. MAY, 1902. No. 5.

REPORT FOR APRIL.

REFERENCE DEPARTMENT.

During the month of April there were received at the Library, by purchase, 732 volumes and 509 pamphlets; by gift, 3,071 volumes and 5,064 pamphlets; and by exchange, 309 volumes and 3,801 pamphlets.

There were catalogued 5,145 volumes and 2,659 pamphlets, for which purpose 10,462 cards and 2,958 slips for the copying machine were written, and 13,866 cards were received from the copying machine.

The following table shows the number of readers, and the number of volumes consulted, in both the Astor and Lenox Branches of the Library, also the number of visitors to the Print Department at the Lenox, during the month:

	LENOX.	ASTOR.
No. of readers and visitors	5,090	10,411
No. of readers	2,806	10,411
No. of readers, desk applicants	1,219	8,554
No. of volumes consulted by desk applicants	6,016	30,718
Daily average of readers	108	400
Number of visitors to Print Exhibit, etc.	3,451

CIRCULATION DEPARTMENT.

The most popular books of the month were (in non-fiction): Riis's "Making of an American," Creelman's "On the Great Highway," and James's "Talks to Teachers on Psychology;" (adult fiction) Johnston's "Audrey," Parker's "Right of Way," and Bacheller's "D'ri and I;" (juvenile fiction) Lang's "Green Fairy Book," Alcott's "Little Women," and Barbour's "Captain of the Crew."

A number of large gifts were received this month, one from Messrs. H. V. & H. W. Poor, consisting of 1,516 volumes, 1,487 pamphlets, 45 scrapbooks, and 18 maps, the scrapbooks referring entirely to the transactions of the New York Stock Exchanges (38 volumes, 1873–1891), Boston (4 volumes, 1887–1888), and Philadelphia (3 volumes, 1886–1888). This gift added 971 pieces to the files of the Library, the larger proportion of them being auditors' and treasurers' reports of the several States, many of which filled gaps, and some, notably for Oklahoma, started new files.

A valuable collection of 511 volumes of newspapers, received from the Long Island Historical Society, made important additions to the files of New York newspapers and technological journals. This gift, together with the file of the Evening Post already in the library, makes the set of the Post complete from its beginning in 1801, with the exception of the years 1813, 1862, and 1863. It includes also a collection of all the newspapers and periodicals published in the United States during the Centennial year, 1876, bound in 70 volumes.

Other important gifts were from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Argentine Republic, 10 volumes, 7 pamphlets, an atlas, and 16 maps, all issued by the Republic; from S. P. Avery, 11 volumes and 4 pamphlets, relating to art, also 7 bookplates and a photograph after Rossetti; from the Century Association, 139 volumes, 353 pamphlets, 14 maps and charts, and 1 atlas; from the Century Company, 128 prints, being engravings by Timothy Cole and Henry Wolf; from William E. Dodge, 63 volumes and 104 pamphlets, including 51 volumes of the Penny Cyclopædia; from Mrs. Henry Draper, 46 volumes and 5 pamphlets; from Melatiah E. Dwight, one of an edition of fifty-two copies of his "Catalogue of the Works of Elbridge Kingsley, the Engraver"; from Stuyvesant Fish, a photograph of a Bradford broadside proclamation of Governor Fletcher, dated 29 April, 1693, heretofore unknown; from the Colony of Jamaica, 26 volumes and 1 pamphlet, including the recent Blue Books and Census of the Island; from the keeper of the archives of the Municipality of Lisbon, 11 volumes of the municipal records; from four departments of the government of the Province of Nova Scotia, 27 volumes and 66 pamphlets; from John Robinson, 12 volumes of literary annuals; from the Società Ligure di Storia Patria of Genoa, 6 volumes of transactions and a map; from Miss C. P. Stokes, 2 volumes and 2 pamphlets, relating to the Dudley family; from Mrs. E. N. Vanderpoel, 15 maps, including some of the Civil War, 25 old lithographs and 1 photograph.

The exhibition of Rossetti prints at the Lenox was continued during the month, as was the display of Fantin-Latour lithographs at the Astor.

The exhibitions at the circulation branches have been as follows: Bond Street, Arbor day; Ottendorfer, Arbor day, Latest fiction, Books about Spain, Frank R. Stockton, Queen Wilhelmina; George Bruce, Audrey, Frank R. Stockton, Cecil Rhodes; Jackson Square, Birds; Harlem, Illustrations from children's books, Birds, Columbia College, Concord and Lexington, Arbor day, Frank R. Stockton; Muhlenberg, Arbor day, Frank R. Stockton; Bloomingdale, Arbor day, Frank R. Stockton; Yorkville, Tales of the sea, William Wordsworth, Arbor Day, Frank R. Stockton; Thirty-fourth Street, Arbor day; Chatham Square, Washington Irving, New York old and new, South America, Frank R. Stockton, Arbor day; St. Agnes, Arbor day, Boys' bulletin of games and sports; Washington Heights, Civics in the United States, especially in New York.

JOSEPH E. JOHNSTON ON THE GEORGIA CAMPAIGN OF 1864.

Printed from the original manuscript in the Emmet Collection, presented to the New York Public Library by Mr. John S. Kennedy.

MACON, GA., Aug. 13, 1864.

MY DEAR SIR.

I have had the pleasure to receive your friendly letter.

The reasons assigned for my removal are "failing to arrest the advance of the enemy to the vicinity of Atlanta, far in the interior of Georgia," & "not expressing confidence that I could defeat or repell him."

After the battle of the Wilderness, General Lee adopted precisely the course which I followed—& gained great glory by it. He fell back as far as I, & much more rapidly—or rather, less slowly. The enemy also penetrated much more deeply & extensively into Virginia than into Georgia.

I have never known sensible men to regard confident language as evidence of merit.

A few days before my removal, general Bragg assured me that he had maintained in Richmond, that Sherman's Army was stronger than Grant's. It is very certain that General Lee's was larger than mine. General Lee's course has satisfied the government & country—& added to his great glory.

The relative strength of Genl. Sherman's army and mine, made the chances of Victory in his favor, if we attacked. At Dalton he had a fortified pass close in his rear, as a place of refuge in case of mishap. In moving southward he advanced fortifying—& therefore always had an intrenched position close behind him. Under such circumstances victory could not have been decisive for us, while defeat would have been ruinous. We therefore kept near him, to be ready to take advantage of any exposure of a detachment that he might make. He was too sagacious, however, to make any that would have justified battle. But we repelled his almost daily partial assaults with trifling loss. While he, on all such occasions, suffered heavily.

We fell back before the federal army, about 93 miles in 75 days, the sum of our losses was about 10000. We estimated that of the enemy at five times as much from the opinions of experienced officers—reports of prisoners taken daily—& statements of northern newspapers. The course, if continued with the same results, would soon have so reduced the disparity of number as to make the chances of battle at least equal. If we could have defeated the enemy on this [side] of the Chattahoochee his destruction was certain. I therefore thought, and still think my plan of operations correct.

Yours very truly

J. E. JOHNSTON

A CHECK LIST OF WORKS IN THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY ON WAGES, ETC.

 All works here noted are located in the Astor branch. This list is by no means exhaustive; national and state general statistical publications and publications of labor bureaus or departments all contain much material relating to the subject. Reference should be made, in the index catalogue in the reading room, to related headings, such as Labor and Machinery, Profit, Profit sharing, etc., etc. The arrangement here is alphabetical by subdivisions under the three groups of (I) General works, (II) Various kinds of wages, (III) Wages in various occupations, and chronological under the subdivisions in each group.
